The creator of ChessWorld.net has shared a heartwarming story about how one user's feedback became a lifeline for the platform. The user, who wished to remain anonymous, wrote an email that resonated deeply with the developer, Ediz Gurel. The sender expressed their admiration for the game and its impact on their life, saying it had become a "lifeline." They shared how the platform's clean interface and intuitive gameplay made chess accessible to them. The user also appreciated the ability to play at their own pace and the flexibility of the format. Ediz Gurel has said that the email was like finding an echo through time and space, highlighting how one creation can have a profound impact on people's lives. He values feedback from users and considers it his "Northern Star" for guiding development decisions. The platform's features were highlighted in the email, including the user interface, control buttons, and game settings. The sender praised the ability to play against others, computer opponents, and the flexibility of the game format. Ediz Gurel has emphasized that all essential functions are free and do not require registration. Registration brings advantages such as earning rating points, saving games in a profile, or customizable appearance settings. ChessWorld.net is described as offering one of the most flexible and enjoyable ways to play chess online. The correspondence-style format helps players reduce blunders, deepen strategic understanding, and play at their own pace. The platform has attracted thousands of active members from around the world who share their love for playing online chess on ChessWorld.net. ChessWorld.net is a fantastic site that offers an endless experience with numerous options - several games, endless options! This platform allows users to play online chess at their own pace, whether they're improving their skills or enjoying friendly competition. The site features a fully customizable interface where players can personalize the layout and board styles. One of the standout features is the ChessWorld rating progress system, which allows full members to build up their rating over time through competitive games. There's also an analysis board for trying out different move ideas, as well as opponent stats that provide valuable insights into opponents' performance history. Another useful feature is the in-game notepad, where players can record their plans and threats directly within the game. The ChessWorld rating system allows users to track their progress and compare with other members. Additionally, there are over 2,000 member-annotated games available for inspiration and study. The site has hosted several real-life social events around the world due to its friendly atmosphere, encouraging chat between moves and even handshakes. It's a great place for people to meet and play chess. For example, assume a white pawn is placed at B5, the black C7 pawn is moved to C5, The White player can move the B5 pawn to C6, and capture the C7 pawn as soon as th next move follows after opponent pawns movement in question expires right away. The King and Rooks have special move open castling referes to movement of king and rooks If neither the King nor Rook has been moved during game rank separating them is clear of pieces and no space king will mov over or end on is under attack by opponent piece The player can mov his king two spaces towards rook and rook on opposite side of king For example assume that the white king on E1 and the white rook on A1 have direct line of sight and have not moved The white player can in a single move mov the king two spaces left to C1 and the rook three spaces right to D1 also player could castle kingside movig king to G1 and H1 rook to F1 Promotion is special move granted pawns If a pawn manage to reach end of board they are automatically promoted The player must state piece Rook Knight Bishop Queen promoted pawn is then transformd to dected piece A player might thus have maximum of 9 Queens on board the one he started with and one for each of 8 pawns that he potentially can prompt By nature of game pawns cant prompt to king nor remain pawns Play friendly chess game online or compete vs others learn and improve your chess skills FREE Tournaments teams ladder league tactics puzzles and more 570 players online Welcome to GameKnot premier online chess battlefield Youll enjoy playing chess online its promise You choose how often to mov no need to finish chess games in one sitting check back whenever you have time to play online today or tomorrow Play several chess games online simultaneously try different strategies and chess openings No additional software to download easy navigation free registration online chess at its best
