The English opener has put the Indian bowlers on the backfoot with his attacking approach. Shardul Thakur looked quiet ordinary with the bat today as the match is slipping away from India now. India need early wickets to strengthen their position otherwise England will take the game away from them in no time June 24, 2025 3:12 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: The covers are coming off a big update from Headingley Leeds as the match is set to get underway. We might expect to play to start at the scheduled time. June 24, 2025 3:00 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: Joe Root and Ben Stokes means they will be the key men India are antsy to get out early. They will remember Root's innings from Edgbaston 2022, and Stokes from Headingley 2019; they are the key men. But surrounding them is plenty of quality, with Pope and Brook scoring well in the first innings, and Duckett and Crawley capable of giving an electric platform. England won't be daunted at the start of their chase today, that is for certain June 24, 2025 2:50 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: Why the conditions will be good news is because it brings Siraj and Shardul into major consideration as wicket-taking choices for Gill, meaning he can afford for Bumrah to have shorter, sharper spells multiple times through the day. It might also add a dimension to Ravindra Jadeja with any dampness in the pitch. Keep an eye on the weather June 24, 2025 2:40 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: Gloomy skies and a light drizzle has begun in Leeds. However, it's positive news: an on-time start is expected for day 5, according to our man at the venue reports. Covers going on as well just as a precaution to ensure that happens June 24, 2025 2:30 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: The anticipation is seriously beginning to build now. There are so many different avenues this match could take, so many different ways to reach its final destination. It is rare and special to have a mach in such a position, maintaining its tension and balance every single day. A pleasure to be along for the ride June 24, 2025 2:10 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: Such is the form and quality that Jasprit Bumrah has shown in recent matches, he is essentially a one-man instrument of mass destruction at the deployment of his captain. His back-breaking effort Test after Test is a sign of concern, certainly, but in situations such as these, he is worth his weight in gold to India. Equally, he will be the one player who will make England just breathe that much shallower: his aim will be to snare up 10 wickets, which would have seemed tougher even just 2 days ago. But with the pitch degrading and England managing 8 wickets on day 4, there is hope for India that they can manufacture enough from the surface throughout the day to give themselves a solid edge of chances to take those scalps June 24, 2025 12:50 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: England ensured their target was within plausible bounds by bowling out India's tail extremely cheaply for the second time in this match — something which across that match might have saved a solid 60-70 runs on their target. What that means is that they are left with 350 to win after being 21/0 overnight. That's a stiff task, but with Bazball's central thesis, England are still threatening heavily. June 24, 2025 12:07 PM ISTIND vs ENG Live Updates, India vs England Test Series Day 5: There is plenty of excitement in the air, and so much to talk about as we get things going for the final day of this first Test match at Headingley. As we get further and further into the day, that tension and drama will only grow. Stick along for the ride! Last Updated: June 23, 2025, 23:33 IST | Jun 23, 2025 23:29 IST | Right. This brings us to the close of an immersive day of Test cricket. England have an Everest to climb come Day 5, as they need 350 runs to win this series opener. England will be pleased to have navigated the final half hour without losing a wicket, a small but vital boost heading into the final day. However, fresh challenges await, with rain looming on the forecast, especially around the morning and afternoon sessions, which could disrupt play. Fingers crossed that the weather holds, because this first Test is perfectly poised with all four results still on the table. Do join us for the decisive day as the first ball is scheduled to be bowled at 3.30 pm IST (10 am GMT). Till then, take care, cheers. Jun 23, 2025 23:22 IST | KL Rahul is in for a chat with Deep Dasgupta. He shares that switching between formats in a short time is never easy. That is why he arrived early and took part in the India a game, which he says was a better preparation for him. Mentions that getting used to the red ball coming at him was important, and having played in England before, he knew what to expect. Shares that for him, it was about switching on mentally and focusing on doing the simple things right. States that the conditions required him to play tighter and focus on getting through the first session on Day 4. The duo of Pant and KL Rahul added a mammoth 195 runs together, turning the momentum towards India. Jun 23, 2025 23:11 IST | England opened Day 4 with purpose, slicing nicely through the morning hour at Headingley. Brydon Carse struck almost immediately, removing Shubman Gill and injecting early energy into the session. With the pitch showing fresh signs of wear and the ball zipping around under cloudy skies, Josh Tongue and Ben Stokes found bounce, seam, and rhythm, but the breakthroughs remained elusive. KL Rahul, cool as you like, brought up a composed half-century, while Rishabh Pant flirted with chaos and creativity in equal measure. Despite the probing spells, England came away with just the one wicket, leaving the game delicately balanced at Lunch. Jun 23, 2025 23:04 IST | Zak Crawley and Ben Duckett started to walk off the field as soon as the over finished, but the Indians were keen to squeeze one Bumrah over in. But the onfield umpires, too, thought that it is enough for the day, as the clock has ticked past 6.30 pm local time (5.30 pm GMT). What a day it's been. A classic Test cricket at its absorbing best. Momentum swung like a pendulum, nerves were tested, and both sides traded blows without flinching. After 12 sessions in this opening Test, there's barely a sheet of paper between the two teams. It's all square on the session scorecard too — four apiece to India and England, and four hanging right in the balance. The match is beautifully set up heading into the business end.
